

To Whom It May Concern

In the year 2000 I was the Chairman of a listed Company – Powerlan Limited.

At the time, the Company employed David Utting as its Communications Manager with responsibility for media and investor relations.

Mr Utting applied himself with considerable energy and flair and performed his duties at a marked level of professionalism. His commitment to his role elevated the Company's profile and Mr Utting became an important contributor to the Company's activities.

I understand that he is about to set up his own communications company and I without hesitation recommend his professional services.
